Today application runs peoples a life that's why I want to re-contribution to make life more creative so I came up with this idea.

GOALS& OBJECTIVES:

I have absolutely no idea about coding and how the system works for creating an application. So, if I want to create an application, I have to learn about coding and I want to learn something that will be useful for me in the future. Thus I believe I can expand my knowledge about my skills.

Main goal for this application is to create an environment with users who will enjoy writing and reading the stories that combined with different users writings. Second important goal of this project is that users will be contributing something personal in order to create and be a part of something bigger themselves.

TARGET AUDIENCE:

My target audience is people who are interested in writing stories and also enjoy reading. Moreover people who find interesting and take pleasure from continue to write a story that someone else already had begun. This application may also help to improve of writing skills.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION:

Since I was child I always had interest in reading stories and books so I wanted to improve myself in an area for which I'm already interested in. I come up with this idea so that people like me will have the chance to both write and interact with each other. Also it is an opportunity to show your skills and share these ideas with people, which lead to create an environment that people who have common interests.

Also I figure out that people tend to write their expressions though dough Twitter, Facebook, some other apps and blogs. To write anonymously (using account names) may also be a relief for people who are not comfortable for expressing their ideas. I thought first that it could be a web-site but it doesn't gives the feeling that you can write anywhere since I wanted this application to be accessible in anytime and anywhere.
