

Project Definition

My project is an interactive installation that reveals the hidden feeling through visualizing heartbeat of the person.

Goals and Objectives

The goal of the project will be visualizing an individual's heartbeat. It will be focused on the rhythm of the heartbeat through some kind of scanner that is programmed to catch the beats of the heart and visualize them with graphic animation to the screen with help of a funnel that shows the transition of the visualization.

Target Audience

The installation targets mostly people who can not or doesn't show or in a way denies their feelings but can visually see what is really going on with him/her.

Background Information

As I was thinking some problems that could be partly solved with the project, firstly I thought about myself, about my own stuff that I see as a problem.

I'm a person that can not show her feelings pretty much which in some cases disturbs me especially with the situations with my family. At the same time, as I was looking and searching in the web for getting ideas, inspiration and seeing how successful projects have people done, I came across with a project that was made by Chevalvert called Murmur. It is focused on visualizing people's whistle or voice that they speak through a luminous funnel into a graphic animation. Also, my main concern was to create a project that is interactive and makes people to bring out something from their own. So, this Murmur project made these puzzles come together in my mind which can also be changed in a different way.
